Doctor Charles Burchell Shirley was born September 14, 1848 Alexandria, Virginia. His father was Charles who was a son of Ephraim Shirley born ca. 1784 in Jefferson Co. Va. and his father was Jarvis who was a son of Walter Shirley b. ca. 1690 England according to family tradition.

In the picture above, Dr. Shirley's wife, Augusta, is standing on the porch and their daughter can be seen standing behind the buggy. Her name Marguerite and she was the youngest daughter.

Dr. Shirley's father had begun life at historic Harper's Ferry, but lived in Alexander, Virginia during the greater part of his life. He followed government work for a great many years, having early in his career been stationed at Washington D.C., the national capital, Always retaining a great interest for him, which was in later years passed on to his son. Of the eleven children born to Charles and Sarah, the eldest was Charles B.
The private schools of Alexandria provided the educational advantages which fortune, vouchsafed to the boy Charles Shirley. Having completed his studies of a general nature, he went to the capital city in the District of Columbia, where he was engaged as a bookkeeper for many years. But his gifts and his tendencies were scientific and professional and the time came when he laid aside the activities toward which chance had pointed the way, and entered upon those to which his interests and ambition called him.

Still in his young manhood, but at that period of it in which vigor and poise have attained their truest balance for study. Charles B. Shirley entered in medical school in 1876. Three years later, he was granted the degree of Doctor of Medicine and immediately entered upon the profession in which he has become such a signal of success. The scene of Dr. Shirley's early practice was the city of Washington, where he attained both prosperity and popularity in his chosen field.

After seven years of professional activity in the city of Washington, Dr. Shirley determined on a change of climate for the sake of Mrs. Shirley's health. Silver City, New Mexico, met the demands for a dryer air and there the doctor and his family were located from 1886 until 1891. In that city also his skill as a physician met with gratifying demand for his services and Dr. Shirley endeared himself to both patients and citizens in general, to a remarkable degree. In the last mentioned year he made a second and final change of residence and professional location. Coming to the infant city of Weiser, Idaho, which then contained six buildings, he established his permanent home. The third physician to take up practice in his community, he demonstrated a superior ability by his ever growing importance to the town and his prominence through out the state.

Dr. Shirley is, of course an active spirit in the medical societies of this section of the country, being leader in both the "All-State" and the Southern Idaho organizations and having been one of the organizers of the later. Fraternal Societies also claim his membership and by their exponents he is mentioned with rare enthusiasm. He is connected with the Ancient Order of the United Workman of which he was one of the organizers in Silver City. He was Knight of Pythias of high rank, having passed all chairs of that organization and holding exceptionally superior office of Grand Chancellor of the state body of the same. He was one of the charter members in Weiser, where he has shown the greatest devotion and loyalty of his Myrtle Lodge #26 of this order. To him is given chief credit for the erection of Castle Hall, built by the lodge in 1903 and 1904, and knowledge as surpassing in architectural beauty any other lodge home of the Knights of Pythias in the Northwest. His zeal and enthusiasm in this society has led to his being affectionately called, by his official brother Knights, "the Grand Old Man of our lodge."

Dr. Shirley has long marched under the Republican banner, to which he has ever been loyal in supporting its principals. In religious affiliation he and his family are connected with the Episcopal church.

AUSTRALIA & NEW ZEALAND TRIP PLANNED IN OCTOBER 1989 TO MEET SHIRLEYS AND VISIT POINTS OF INTEREST

Write requesting further information
Immediate after New Years Day, I made arrangements to get the cassette corrected and now it is ready to go. The colored inserts and the tape in final package form will be ready for me to pick up in one week.

In the meantime I was also working on a nice brochure...we never have had a professional one done. I am enclosing one in the next issue of the NEWS. I hope you like it. These two items have been costly to do and the Association did not have funds for doing this. I have borrowed money from an outside source to finance this project.

The purpose for this project is ......

To mail a professional looking brochure to SHIRLEYS in each state offering them an opportunity to learn about their SHIRLEY heritage. There are companies mailing out to these Shirleys advertising a book which says it will tell them about their Shirley heritage and yet, as we all know, it doesn't!

By offering a cassette tape and at a price which is affordable to most, and with a brochure which tells them more about the Shirleys than these books do that they have ordered, we think we can get their interest.

I shall begin mailing per state to SHIRLEYS listed in that state and the names I have of those who have contacted us in the past whose last name is not SHIRLEY and who are not now active members. We hope to generate a lot of interest with this project. We need new information and to build the Association.

YOUR help would be greatly appreciated! I have had members in the past who said...Do you need some extra funds? I wasn't involved in a special project at the time. Now... my answer to you who have asked, YES! I really could use some extra funds for the postage for the mailing costs of these brochures. Some may just want to send some stamps...that would be GREAT!!!

I have spent for Augusta Co. Va. research lately and would like to do some more research soon, but again, we do not have funds for a lot of research. By buying tapes and encouraging family members to join the Association, we can accumulate additional funds for these purposes. These cassette tapes will make great gifts for family members who you have been trying to interest in the Shirley heritage.

Your help will be appreciated!!!

GRANDMA SHIRLEY, CENTENARIAN

Mrs. Annie E. Shirley celebrated her 100th birthday last Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J.B. Woodward, five miles west of Bowdon, and just over the line in Alabama.

Mrs. Shirley demonstrated her spinning abilities on an old fashioned spinning wheel which had been in the family 150 years. She is yet quite active and can get about as well as most women about the age of sixty.

Something over a year ago, Mrs. Shirley was taken real sick, and it was remarked by someone sitting up with her, that they wondered if she would live to be a hundred years old, and she spoke up and said yes, she wasn't ready to give up yet.

She was formerly Annie Elizabeth Milton, born in Darlington District, South Carolina on Nov 15, 1813, and married at the age of twenty-five. Her husband died in 1847, but to them were born three children, two sons and one daughter.

The two sons, John and Robert Shirley, served in the Civil War, being killed in the battles around Richmond. Judge Thomson, who knew them during the war, speaks of them as gallant soldiers and were a credit to the Southern cause.

A Reproduction of One of the Rare Glass Treatments of the 19th Century Handmade in the Fine Fenton Tradition

Burmese was the name given this lovely glass treatment in 1885 by its creator Frederick Shirley, of the Mt. Washington Glass Company in New Bedford, Massachusetts. Produced only for a very limited number of years, legend states that the name was provided by Queen Victoria who, upon receipt of a gift of this glass, was said to have exclaimed that the rich tones of blushing pink reminded her of a Burmese sunset.

Queen Victoria was so delighted with Burmese glass that she ordered several additional items which, in turn, influenced Thomas Webb & Sons, a famous English glassmaker, to purchase a license to produce the treatment in England. These pieces are known as Queen's Burmese. Both the original Burmese and Queen's Burmese are among the rarest and most prized pieces collected by glass connoisseurs.

Enamored with the soft translucent beauty of Burmese, Fenton Glass chemist Charles W. Goog experimented with innumerable formula variations over a period of many years until he found just the right formula to faithfully reproduce the delicate blushing loveliness of the original Burmese treatment.

Fenton is extraordinarily proud to offer once again to the American public Burmese Glass; one of the finest examples of America's wonderful heritage in hand glass craftsmanship.
THE ALMSHOUSE

Among the old houses worthy of mention is that of James Shirley, Sr., who was granted additional lot No. 13 in the year 1730. He was a native of Ireland, but of Scotch origin, and came to America with a large family, only three of his sons, however, came to Chester with him. They were John, Capt. James and Thomas. Shortly after they took up the grant, they built a two and one-half story house of 12 rooms and a large barn. James Shirley, Sr., passed away in 1754 at the age of 105.

The property remained in the Shirley family until 1832, when the town purchased it for use as an Almshouse. The price paid for the farm including the stock, tools, furniture, etc., being $3,426.39. After this transaction the homestead of the Shirleys became a haven of refuge for the poor, the infirm and the mildly insane. Numerous pathetic, weird and humorous anecdotes are to the present time told of those poor unfortunates. The town made many repairs and added several rooms, making a total of eighteen and a sheep barn and carriage house were also added.

The paupers were cared for by overseers, who were engaged by the Selectmen for a term of one year. Many of them served for several terms and lived on the place with their families.

About 1869 "Town Settlements," as such places were called, were abolished and the "Poor Farm" was sold at auction and in time became the home of Samuel Morse, who for many years carried on extensive farming and lumbering operations. One day Mr. Morse, repairing clapboards on the house, found beneath them a mute testimonial of the hazards braved by James Shirley and his three stalwart sons, in the form of an Indian tomahawk. Whether these sturdy men took Indian attacks as a matter of course, or whether the tomahawk came to be there by some absent-minded, but harmless cause is a matter of speculation, for tradition has handed down no stories of Indian attacks upon this house.

About 1884 the house was purchased by Clark B. Hall, who combined it with the Hall estate, which it adjoined. When Mr. Hall's home in Hall's Village was destroyed by fire in 1883, he bought property in Manchester and moved there with his family, but retained his property in Chester and for many years used the old "Poor Farm" as a summer home. It is at present the residence of his son, Wm. C. Hall, who has done much to reclaim its simple colonial architecture. Much of the original building is still in a state of perfect preservation, and one feature that has been much admired by many people, is the heavy hewn beams that are exposed in one of the principal rooms.
Mr. J. C. Shirley Dies at his Home After Lingering Illness

(JOHNSTON C. SHIRLEY 1856-1927, Lavonia, Franklin Co. Ga.)

Mr. Joshua Cornelius Shirley died at his home last Friday, April 30th at 9 o'clock after being confined to his home for several weeks. Mr. Shirley was born Sept. 30, 1856, he married Katherine Black Jan. 21, 1879. There were seven children born to this union, three of them being at his bedside when he passed away—Ernest, from Wash-ington, D. C., Arthur, from Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Charlie Nelsa, of Hartwell, Guy in Texas could not be with him;

Mrs. John Burton was sick at her home in Anderson, S. C. and could not be at her father's bedside. Two children, Mrs. Annie Lizzie Holdbrooke and little Joshua Shirley preceded him to the grave several years ago,

He was one of the most prominent citizens of Lavonia, he was a man of sterling worth with his high conception of the things that elevate the moral of a community and always advocated his ideas along the line of right thinking, right living and trying to impress upon those with whom he came in contact the truth he believed in so much and advocated so strongly. He joined the Baptist church at Short Creek in 1883, later moving his membership to the Lavonia Baptist Church and taught the young men's class. He often stood in church and expressed his love to his fine class of young men; he loved the work; he loved men and lived a Christian life before these boys. He prayed that they might be led by the Holy Spirit; he studied the Bible day after day and prepared his Sunday School lessons and did his best to lead men to Christ.

He was a good man. I have never heard him speak a harsh word of any one. He would always say "There's some good in the worst of us." I have heard him say so many times: "It makes me happy to think there's a place of rest for Christian people." He expressed his wishes a week before going that he wanted to go home and he would look up as if he could see Heaven and say: "I want to go home." We hated to give this good man up and yet we know he is at rest. He was a kind father and a good husband. He had a happy home, he loved his wife dearly, but he had expressed his wishes to go home first; he said his wife could bear it better than he could;—that he couldn't bear the thoughts of being left alone. He knew his time was short when he had to go to bed and said to his wife: "Put my clothes away—I will not ever need them again," and when we tried to give him medicine he would say: "I don't want it, it's not going to do any good. I won't be here long." We wish we had more men like him. We speak for all the people in our town in expressing the sorrow which comes to us as this Christian man is taken from our fellowship. May his devoted wife and children be comforted in the assurance that he awaits them on the other shore, and as we sorrow that he is no more with us in the flesh let us be exhorted to our very best efforts and take up the torch and carry on the blessed work of our Lord and Savior.

The funeral took place at 11 o'clock, Saturday morning, May 1, at the Lavonia Baptist church, Rev. Geo. C. Stodd, his pastor, conducting the services in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

Mr. Shirley is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Black Shirley, and five children—Ernest of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. John P. Burton of Anderson, S. C.; Arthur of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Charlie Nelsa, Hartwell; Guy of Ber-nard, Texas; a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Weldon and Thomas, funeral directors of Lavonia, were in charge.

—His neighbor, Mrs. E. B. Fisher.

A CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends for their numerous expressions of love and sympathy in the passing of our dear husband and father, Mr. J. C. Shirley. We thank every one for the beautiful floral offerings. Especially do we thank Dr. Conant and Dr. Stewart Brown.

THE HISTORY OF HUNTINGTON CO. PA.

This check to the rush of speculation and the progress of settlement and improvement, continued until 1760. In that year and the one succeeding it, a great many applications were made, warrants issued and surveys returned. By the close of 1767, all the good lands in the valleys and river bottoms had been taken up.

It was in the latter year that the town of Huntington was laid out. Its founder was William Smith, D.D., an Episcopal clergyman, and a gentleman of learning and ability. While Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, to which position he was elected in 1756, he made a trip to England for the purpose of soliciting funds in aid of that institution, and received a liberal donation from the Countess of Huntington, in honor of whom he named the town. It is proper that we should know something of the life and character of this estimable lady.

Selina Shirley was born August 24th, 1707. She and her two sisters, one of whom was older and the other younger than herself, were the daughters and heiresses of Washington Shirley, second Earl of Ferrara. At the age of twenty-one she married Theophilus Hastings, sixth Earl of Huntington, a nobleman distinguished for his piety, from whom she took the title by which she is known in history. The death of four of her children: at early ages, and of her husband in 1749, made a deep impression upon her mind and intensified her religious proclivities. She adopted the doctrines of and attached herself to the Calvinistic Methodists, of whom George Whitefield, who, with Wesley, was effecting a great revival, was the founder and leader. She was so zealous in advancing the principles she had espoused, and her wealth enabled her to exert such a vast influence, that a branch of Whitefield's followers became known as "The Countess of Huntington's Connection." She made that eminent preacher one of her chaplains, and he, in return, appointed her by will, sole proprietrix of his possessions in the province of Georgia. America, where she organized a mission. In her own country she built chapels, maintained ministers, and, for the education of the latter, and with the assistance of other persons of opulence, many of whom were members of her own family, established a college at Tronacac, in South Wales. For the support of this Institution she made liberal contributions during her lifetime, and at her death created a trust. She provided in like manner for her chapels. The college was removed after her demise, to Cheshunt, in Herts, where it still exists. She also donated large sums to young itinerant preachers, and to private charity. Her death occurred June 17, 1791. The number of her chapels was then sixty-four. She bequeathed them to four persons, in trust for their care and management. They have increased in number until there are now nearly twice as many as when she died.

SHIRLEY — DEED’S MILL

The writer uncovered a shred of tradition concerning a mill in the present J. C. Reed meadow where the Old Lousten Road crosses Dennis Creek.

Mr. Russell Hill added enough information to lend substance to this clue. There was a mill in this meadow and part of the old mill pond was discernable in the meadow. There was once another small bridge across the road between the main bridge and the house. This bridge crossed the tail race. This tail race rejoined Dennis Creek in the meadow below the bridge near where a tree stood a few years ago.

This land was probably first John Brigham land of 1748 or earlier. The warrant date is 1762. John Irwin bought this land from Brigham and moved here in 1760 or 1762. (Records of this land may be seen in Deed Book 1, page 539. Irwin land was the Chestnut or Frank Dice, Paul McCreary land.)

John Irwin sold 63 acres to Thomas Shirley in 1775. Shirley sold to John Deeds and Deeds sold to George Crider in 1791. Tax records show that John Deeds was being taxed on a grist mill in 1791 and George Crider is credited with a grist mill in 1807.

The writer is not certain whether Shirley or Deeds built the mill. Shirley lived here as late as 1786 or later and Deeds owned it in 1791. Dates indicate that Shirley may have built it. How long the Crider's operated the mill after 1807 is debatable since the writer has found no evidence of Christian Crider running the mill.

SHIRLEY. Thomas Shirley (1750-1834) bought 63 acres from John Irwin in 1775. He sold to John Deeds and Deeds sold to George Crider in 1791. Thomas Shirley on the 1782 and 1786 tax lists of Hamilton. He was probably living in Peters Township in 1790. Thomas Shirley lived in the Pennsylvania Militia. He served in 1780-1781 and 1782 under Captain Samuel Patton.

The Shirley—Deeds land was on Dennis Creek and the Lousten Road. There was a grist mill here (J. C. Reed Farm). Thomas Shirley may have built this mill.

DEEDS. John Deeds bought from Thomas Shirley. Shirley received a warrant for this land in 1775. It was part of the earlier John Irwin, David Brigham land which was taken up prior to 1748. Deeds sold to George Crider in 1791.

In Phillips Co. Arkansas... George Shirley can be found and his records say he was born in Franklin Co. Pa. in 1797. He was in the War of 1812.

William C. Shirley was born in 1871 near Greensburg, and was educated in his native place. His early life was spent in agricultural pursuits, but for the last ten years he has been successfully engaged in the manufacture of lumber. His mill is operated by steam and is of twenty-horse power. When it running at full capacity he employs ten men. In 1897 he moved to Hillville and purchased his present residence. Mr. Shirley married Bertha Obourn in 1893 and they are the parents of one child, Ondiene.
THOMAS ELGIN SHIRLEY, educator, who resides on the homestead farm in Center township, Indiana Co., Pa., was born in Blacksville township, this county, Dec. 26, 1835, son of David and Eliza (Douthitt) Shirley.

Robert Shirley, the founder of the family in Indiana county, was born in eastern Pennsylvania in 1738, and was married there to Susan Baker, who was of German descent and was born in 1742. Robert Shirley served as a soldier in the Revolutionary war. In 1792 he came to Indiana county, from the Conococheague valley, and located in Conemaugh township, on Bucklegs creek, about two miles from Saltsburg. He became a farmer, and lived in that section until he was ninety-nine years of age, dying in 1834. His widow survived him by 101 years of age, her death occurring in 1843, and their eldest son, John, lived to the age of 103, all of the six children attaining old age. They were: John, who married Elizabeth Tisher; Robert; Thomas; Jane, who married a Mr. Mullen, and moved to the West; Joseph, who married Catherine Fulkner; and Ann, who married William Bash.

Thomas Shirley, son of Robert, was born during the Revolutionary war, in 1776, and was a young man when he accompanied his parents to Conemaugh township, where he subsequently followed agricultural life until he retired. He died in 1876, at the age of ninety-nine years. He married Mary Miller, who was born in 1787, and died in 1875, at the age of eighty-seven years. Their children were as follows: Margaret, born in 1809, was married to John Lempkin; and (second) a Mr. Altman; Barbara, born in 1811, married Jacob Long; Robert, born in 1813, married Eliza Kelly; Christopher, born in 1815, is mentioned below; Susan, born in 1818, married Ezekiel Grey; John, born in 1821, married Ella Bashor; James, born in 1823, married Ellen Fairman; and Mathias, born in 1829, married Rachel Longwell.

Christopher Shirley, son of Thomas, was born in Conemaugh township, Indiana county, in 1815, and passed a quiet, busy life on his farm there, where he died in 1900. He married Mary Douthitt, and they had seven children, namely: Thomas, who lives at Ontario, San Bernardino Co., Cal.; James P., who lives at Connelleville, Pa.; George, who resides at Clarksburg, Pa.; Anna, who lives at Collinsville, Pa.; Martha, who married Elgin Rhea; Margaret, who married John Walton; and David.

David Shirley, son of Christopher, was born Dec. 20, 1856, in Conemaugh township, and was reared and educated there. He followed farming and also lumbering, in different sections of Indiana county, being a farmer in Conemaugh, Washington and Brushvale townsip prior to moving to Center township, where he bought seventy-seven acres of land, known as the C. A. Smith farm, and there he is still interested in farming and stock raising. He was married Oct. 4, 1883, to Eliza Douthitt, daughter of Samuel Douthitt, of Homer City, Indiana Co., Pa., and they have the following children: Orville Earl, who taught school for some time in Indiana county, and is now a clerk in the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C.; Roy Walton, who resides in southern California; Thomas Elgin; Elise Ann, who is engaged in the millinery business at Oil City, Pa.; and Mary Olive, David Blair and Emma Delle, all of whom reside at home. David Shirley and his wife are members of the United Brethren Church. He is one of the representative citizens of Center township, one whose influence is beneficial in all directions, and as such he is hearty in the support he gives to the Prohibition party.

Thomas Elgin Shirley, third son of David Shirley, attended the public schools in White and Center townships and later studied at the State normal school at Indiana, Pa. After thus thoroughly preparing for his chosen profession he began to teach school, in 1907 becoming the teacher of District No. 10 school, in Center township, and proved so satisfactory that he was retained during 1908. In 1909 he became the teacher at Brush Hollow, and then accepted the position of principal of the Risinger school, at North Homer, where he has been located since 1910. He is a member of the United Brethren Church.

NOTE: The Shirleys of Indiana, Westmoreland and Armstrong Co. Pa. are of the same branch. ... Robert Shirley and Susan Baker.
JOHN TRUBY SHIRLEY, of Freeport, Armstrong county, a resident of that borough since 1894, is engaged in business in Pittsburgh as a broker, being a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Mr. Shirley is of old Pennsylvania stock. His maternal grandfather, Christopher Iman, lived at Elders Ridge, Indiana County, where he was engaged in farming. He was one of the progressive men of his time, especially interested in the question of public education.

John R. Shirley, father of John T. Shirley, conducted the "Shirley House" at Freeport for some time. He married Rachel Iman.

John T. Shirley was born in Armstrong county, Pa., near Brady’s Bend, and the family moving later to Butler he received his education at that place. When about fourteen years old he entered the Union army for service in the Civil war, joining Company H, 77th Pennsylvania Regiment, under Captain Jack of Butler and Colonel Sirwell of Kittanning. He served three years and two months, at the end of that period going home to Butler, where he clerked in a store for some time. Later he was at Freeport, following the hotel business with his father in the conduct of the "Shirley House" until Oct. 19, 1869, when he married, and moved to Parker, this county. He had a hardware store at that place, and was engaged in the oil business during the great excitement, opening a hardware store at Karns City, Butler County. In 1878 he went to Bradford, Pa., for two years, during which time he was engaged as an oil producer. Then he went to Warren, Pa., where he was engaged in the same line for fifteen years, in 1894 coming to Freeport, as previously stated. He has since followed the brokerage business, having headquarters at Pittsburgh.

On Oct. 19, 1869, Mr. Shirley married Martha A. Moorhead, and they have had four children, all of whom died in infancy. Mrs. Shirley was born at Freeport, in the house where she now resides, daughter of William Moorhead, and granddaughter of David Moorhead.

Family tradition in one branch of the Shireys state... In 1731, three brothers came from England to Mass. This was stated in an old family Bible of Alice Powers great Aunt. The brothers were, William, John and Peter. There is a gap of a generation or two and a Shirley who was married to a Miss. 'Youngblood' were the parents of...

   m. Elizabeth Zeiler in 1823 in Frederick Co. Va.

3. Mary m. Adam Stinebaude

Alice Powers has just learned that her great great grandfather, Peter b. 1795, married 2nd, Barthania Ambrose and on the marriage certificate, his parents were listed as John and Mary Shirley of York Co. Pa.

The letter in which the material is found about this family of Shireys can be found in the Jan. 1979 issue of the SHIRLEY NEWS on page 9, 10 & 11. This letter was found in the old Bible.

In the letter it states that someway in Pa. we became mixed up with the Dutch and traces of German blood still flow in our veins.

In 1822, grandfather Shirley and his wife came from the vicinity of York Pa. to Va. They bought a large amount of land near Siler, Va. ...known as Timber Ridge District, about 4 miles from Berkeley Springs, Morgan Co. ...then, Virginia. ...statement contained in old letter.

NOTE: This could very easily be the explanation why the statement is made now and again about some of the Shireys being GERMAN. They could have German Grandmothers or mothers, etc.
